IPGS01.- TELL ME ABOUT YOU

Situation

https://www.youtube.com/embed/BIn1Q1meIZE

Fernando Braña Asensio (using Vidnoz). Adam (CC BY-NC-SA)

Introducing yourself professionally (and personally) is important and we may need it in our everyday life when we meet someone new, at school, at a new job, at a large convention or at a job interview. This is my case. I am going to start a new job next month and I am preparing myself because I will need to travel to Ireland and will need to refresh my knowledge of English. Perhaps, in the future this will be your case, too. So, you must be prepared. Throughout this unit you will practise how to do that and by the end of it you will be able to speak about your job, and professional experience, describe yourself and also write and understand other people.You will revise verb tenses you will need for that purpose (present simple and progressive, Present perfect and past simple) and you will revise vocabulary related to jobs, useful expressions to describe and introduce yourself.

Objectives

This unit aims at providing different situations and practice so that you can describe yourself personally and professionally. You will write a personal profile, speak about yourself, and describe several aspects of your job. You will revise vocabulary related to different occupations, adjectives used for descriptions and revise verb tenses (present simple and progressive and present perfect and past simple). Besides, you will read and listen to other people, and understand them in different situations

In this section, you will learn how to express the frequency with which you do something and also what you are doing at this moment. You will do some practice so that you can understand and express yourself using the Present Simple and Progressive appropriately. The following activities will guide you so that you can tell me about what a day at work is for you.

Present Simple and Present Progressive

SIMPLE PRESENT

infinitive (but 3rd person singular: infinitive + 's')

POSITIVE	NEGATIVE	QUESTION
I speak	I don't speak	do you speak?
you speak	you don't speak	do you speak?
he / she / it speaks	he doesn't speak	does he/she/it speak?
we speak	we don't speak	do we speak?
you speak	you don't speak	do you speak?
they speak	they don't speak	do they speak?

Exceptions

When adding 's' :For can, may, might, must, do not add s.	Example: he can, she may, it must
After o, ch, sh or s, add -es.	Example: do - he does, wash - she washes
After a consonant, the final consonant y becomes -ie. (but: not after a vowel).	Example: worry - he worries but: play - he plays

PRESENT PROGRESSIVE

form of 'be' (present) and verb + ing

POSITIVE	NEGATIVE	QUESTION
I am speaking	I am not /I'm not speaking	am I speaking?
you are speaking	you are not (aren't) speaking	are you speaking?
he / she / it is speaking	he/she/it is not (isn't) speaking	is he/she/it speaking?
we are speaking	we aren't speaking	are we speaking?
you are speaking	you aren't speaking	are you speaking?
they are speaking	they aren't speaking	are they speaking

Exceptions

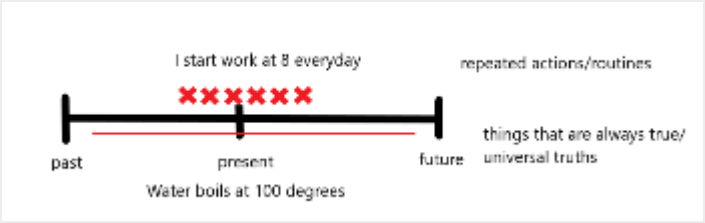

When adding 'ing' :Silent e is dropped. (but: does not apply for -ee)	Example: come - coming but: agree - agreeing
After a short, stressed vowel, the final consonant is doubled.	Example: sit - sitting
After a vowel, the final consonant l is doubled in British English (but not in American English).	Example: travel - travelling (British English) but: traveling (American English)
Final ie becomes y.	Example: lie - lying

USES

PRESENT SIMPLE

- Things which are always true:
  - Water boils at 100 degrees.

- Permanent situations (or nearly permanent; true for a few years at least):
  - James works in Madrid.
- Habits, routines or things we do on a regular basis
  - I commute to work every morning.
- Future events which are part of a timetable:
  - My plane leaves at eight tonight.
- To talk about the future after certain words ('when' 'until' 'after' 'before' 'as soon as'):
  - I'll call you when I get home.
- Present Simple Timeline

fernando braña asensio. present simple timeline (CC BY-NC-SA)

PRESENT PROGRESSIVE

- Things which are happening at the moment of speaking:
  - The water is boiling now, so you can make your tea./ I'm speaking on the phone so I can't help you with that now.
- Temporary situations:
  - Sarah is living in Barcelona for a few months (but she usually she lives in London).
  - I usually take the bus to work but this week I'm driving my car (only this week=temporarily).
- Situations which are slowly changing:
  - I'm getting better and better at speaking English so I won't have any problems with my presentation.
- Annoying habits (usually with 'always'):
  - My work colleague is always leaving the office in a mess!
- Future plans and arrangements:
  - I'm meeting my boss after work today.
  - They are leaving to Paris tomorrow.
- Present Progressive timeline

Fernando Braña Asensio. present progressive timeline (CC BY-NC-SA)

REMEMBER

- We use the present simple with stative verbs. We can't use any continuous tense (including the present continuous tense, of course) with stative verbs.
- We usually find expressions like now, right now or at this moment with the Present Continuous

HOW TO EXPRESS FREQUENCY

The Present Simple is used to express habits or routines as explained before. To do this we may use :

Adverbs of Frequncy and Other expressions

Adverbs of Frequency:

Adverbs of frequency are words that describe how often an action takes place. They provide information about the frequency or regularity of an activity. These adverbs are commonly used with the present simple tense to indicate routine or habitual actions. Here are some common adverbs of frequency:

Always

She always arrives on time.

Usually

I usually go for a walk in the evening.

Often

They often visit their grandparents.

Sometimes

We sometimes have lunch together.

Occasionally

He occasionally travels for work.

Rarely

She rarely misses her morning jog.

Hardly ever

We hardly ever eat out.

Never

They never forget to send birthday cards.

Others

Weekly/monthly/yearly/frequently/occasionally/regularly

Adverbs of Frequency-Position

Adverbs of frequency are placed before the main verb (except for the verb "to be") or after the auxiliary verb.

Examples:

She always arrives early for work.
We usually go out for dinner on Fridays.
He never forgets to call on his mother's birthday.

They go after the verb "to be"

She is often late for work.

They are always the first to finish their tasks.

Expressions of frequency-Position

Expressions of frequency are found at the end of the sentences or at the beginning followed by a comma

*I commute to work three times a week.

Once a year, she does a business trip and flies to America.*

Expressions of Frequency:

Expressions of frequency are phrases or structures used to convey how often something happens. They are similar to adverbs of frequency but are often longer expressions. Here are some common expressions of frequency:

Every day

He exercises every day.

Once a week

We have a meeting once a week.

Twice a month

They go grocery shopping twice a month.

Three times a year

She travels abroad three times a year.

Every now and then

We meet for coffee every now and then.

On weekends

They usually go hiking on weekends.

At least once a month

I try to visit my family at least once a month.

Throughout the year

The company conducts training sessions throughout the year.

Paragraph 1: write about your routine at work/school

Paragraph 2: write about what you did yesterday at work/school

Paragraph 3: write about how long you have been working in this position/you have been studying

TIPS TO WRITE ABOUT YOUR JOB/OCCUPATION

Remember

- we use a / an before jobs. We use “a” before jobs that begin with a consonant sound, and “an” before jobs that begin with a vowel sound.
  - I work as a teacher/ a doctorHe works as an electrician / an accountant
- Use adverbs of frequency and other expression
  - I usually revise my emails
  - I can work from home twice a week

USEFUL VERBS

Here are some useful verbs to describe what you do in your job.

- (for management type jobs in a company or office): manage, organise, supervise
- (for teaching and caring type jobs): teach, train, help, look after
- (for construction, technology and jobs with machines): build, test, develop, design, program, repair, check
- (for financial and planning type jobs): analyse, assess, evaluate, work out, prepare, plan
- (for sales and marketing type jobs): buy, sell, import, export, market
- (for driving and logistics type roles): drive, deliver, transport
- (for jobs where communication is important): write, phone, talk, listen to, meet, attend / have meetings

DO/MAKE

- You can also use “do” to describe your job. (We often use do to talk about routine, or more boring things.)
  - I do the housework / do the gardening / do the admin / do the paperwork
- There are also activities where we use “make”:
  - make appointments, make phone calls, make coffee, make decisions

https://www.piqsels.com. introducing (CC0)

The following expressions will be useful when introducing oneself both at work or whenever I want to give personal information. They will also be useful to understand what other people have to say about themselves.

In the following video, you will find a nice and easy explanation about what points are key when introducing ourselves to other people, so check it out and practice the expressions! I think you will find them useful when it comes to describing yourself

A Day in the Office

Emily at work (CC0)

I work in a busy office in the heart of the city. I start my day by arriving at 9 a.m. Every morning, I greet my colleagues with a warm "Good morning" and ask how they are. I believe that a positive start to the day is essential.

My job as an administrative assistant involves handling emails, scheduling meetings, and organizing office events. I have been working in this role for two years and enjoy the variety it brings. Every day is different, and I like that

One of my main tasks is managing the calendar for the team. I ensure that everyone is aware of upcoming meetings and deadlines. I am also responsible for answering phone calls and helping visitors at the front desk.

During my lunch break, I usually take a stroll to a nearby park. It's my way of taking a break from the busy office environment and getting some fresh air. It helps me recharge for the rest of the day,

In the afternoon, I focus on completing my tasks for the day. I collaborate with my team members, and they often share a quick chat about their projects. By 5 p.m., I wrap up my work and say goodbye to my colleagues, wishing them a pleasant evening.

I enjoy my job because it allows me to stay organized and interact with different people.

Every day brings new challenges, but I find it fulfilling.

Fernando Braña Asensio (using Vidnoz). Adam (CC BY-NC-SA)

As part of the course I am taking, my teacher wants me to write a personal introduction and description and make sure I can express myself if I have to write a professional profile. He has given us a couple of texts about other students that can help me with this. One of them is all mixed up, so I will need extra help. Can you give me a hand to sort it out?

Reading Activity

Hello, I'm Sarah Thompson. I grew up in a small town and always liked making up stories. After finishing my business studies, I got my first job in a local advertising agency. In those early years, I learned a lot about marketing and creating content.

In the last ten years, I worked on different projects, from small local ones to international ones. I enjoyed working with diverse teams and adapting to different styles. It's been a joy professionally, understanding what people like and using that to tell brand stories.

Personally, I also love to travel. Exploring new places helps me get creative ideas. Now, I'm excited to take on new challenges and bring my mix of creativity and experience to the next part of my professional journey. I'd love to hear about your experiences and insights in the marketing world too!

Read this text about Sarah. Then, I would like you to answer the following questions

Are these true or false?

Read the questions and tick the correct answer

Sarah Thompson grew up in a large city.

○ True ○ False

7.- SPEAKING

Situation

https://www.youtube.com/embed/beaaWURra9Q

Fernando Braña Asensio (using Vidnoz). Adam (CC BY-NC-SA)

To fully communicate with other people it's important to speak properly and participate in oral exchanges because this is what I will mainly do in my everyday life when I go to Ireland. To do that, our teacher has asked us to exchange our ideas and introduce ourselves in the Speaking Café although he hasn't set up a time or a date. However, I need to be ready for that and you need, too

Before the teacher establishes the meeting for the Conversation Café you should be ready to talk about:

- Greeting and introduction
- Brief personal details (name, age, origin)
- A sentence about your family/marital status/interests
- Hobbies
- Previous work experience
- Current job or studies
- How long you have been doing it
- Why it is important for you (other pieces of information that you may find useful)
